Under the umbrella of TRANSCAN-3 (ERA-NET: Sustained collaboration of national and regional EIC Pathfinder funds specific challenges that are typically steered by an EIC Programme Manager. In 2021 these Challenges are:

- Challenge: Awareness inside: for projects to: to develop new concepts of awareness that are applicable to systems other than human; to demonstrate and validate the role and added-value of such an awareness in an aware technology, class of artefacts or services; and to define an integrative approach for awareness engineering, its technological toolbox, the needs and implications and its limits, including ethical and regulatory requirements.
- Challenge: Tools to measure & stimulate activity in brain tissue: for projects to develop novel neurotechnologies to diagnose or treat brain, spinal cord or peripheral nerve-related disorders and Challenge: Emerging technologies in Cell & Gene therapy: for breakthrough projects that propose novel concept-based technological solutions or technological platforms far beyond the current state-of-the-art with aim to tackling current bottlenecks from discovery to the manufacturing step towards clinical grade and thus, reinforce critical components of the European cell and gene therapy innovation-driven community.

- Challenge Novel routes to green hydrogen production: for projects to develop novel processes and technologies to produce Green H<sub>2</sub>, at different scales (from small to large) and with higher flexibility, entirely based on renewable sources and on the use of toxic free, non-critical raw materials.
- Challenge Engineered living material: for projects to develop new technologies and platforms for the controlled and made-on-demand production of engineered living materials with multiple functionalities, shapes and scales.

The call will open on 15/06/2021.
